

Marratech Notes

Regina Rowland put me on to Marratech. She says it's amazing. I observed a meeting where the facilitators did have some start-up issues getting the sound to work, but after that it was great. Benefits I saw over Elluminate:

- 1) It has much more real estate for the white board available (maybe double in size), which allows you to fit more data on a sticky wall.
- 2) Typing data into the whiteboard appears very stable -- I did not need to adjust the fonts as much as I do in Elluminate.
- 3) It's possible to immediately convert text to a "card" by dragging a box around it. Once it's a "card" you can grab it and move it around the sticky wall very easily.
- 4) Images of participants appear on the screen.

Benefits of Elluminate over Marratech:

- 1) A participant window with emoticons.

I don't know what the cost is, and I am checking on that. Marratech appears to be associated with Elluminate -- the free trial for Elluminate appears on their website.

Who can tell us more about Marratech?
